Do you have a moment?
Fri, Feb 11, 9:12 AM
I keep getting asked in media interviews about the Province declaring a state of emergency today. Will this be a useful tool on the ground??
We can discuss after today's press conference OK?
You bet. Ty

About 250 protestors still here. It surged to 600 a few hours ago. Having some labour issues with one of our unions. Working with Monte to see if there is some Ministerial authority.
FYI
I understood the numbers are decreasing, good sign.
Let me know if there is anything else we can assist with.

Police have full control of the area now.
I'm hearing the same. Did you have any issues with your address being published?
No...marked police presence in front of my home.
Good to hear (on both fronts)
